

LOST OUTPOST IS REGAINED BY ALLIED TROOPS

SEOUL (AP) — Counterattacking Allied troops today regained frozen outposts near Chonwon on the Western Front. The posts were captured by a reinforced Chinese Communist company last night.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said about 30 Communists were killed and 100 wounded in the vicious Red attack by about 225 men. Allied defenders withdrew after an hour of fighting but stormed back with reinforcements to reoccupy the positions.

Red loudspeakers on the Central Front last night blared a warning the Communists will launch a "general offensive" Jan. 4, the Pacific Stars and Stripes reported. A woman broadcaster made the threat—similar to many aired earlier, none of which have been carried out.

Fliers Hampered
Allied air activity was hampered by heavy clouds over most of North Korea. Marine and Air Force planes hit Communist positions near the West and West-Central Fronts, but results were unobserved.

Snow, rain and sleet fell along the front today. Temperatures ranged from 6 to 13 degrees above zero.

The Reds hurled five minor attacks on the Kumhwa Ridge area of the Central Front last night but the remainder of the 155-mile battlefront was relatively quiet.

CECIL R. SNYDER RESIGNS BIGLER TEACHING POST

Cecil R. Snyder, E. York St., Biglerville, for the last 15 years teacher of agricultural education at the Biglerville High School, has resigned that post effective Thursday.

Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Upper Adams Joint School system, said Mr. Snyder's resignation had been accepted "with deepest regret" by the joint school board.

John White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eston White, Fairfield R. 1, presently a teacher at the Denton, Md., high school, has been appointed by the Upper Adams board to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Snyder's resignation.

Entering Insurance Business
A graduate of the University of Maryland, Mr. White has served as an agriculture teacher at Denton for the last three years and has been active in the veterans' "on-the-farm" agricultural training program in that area. He expects to begin his new duties at Biglerville shortly after the beginning of the year.

Mr. Snyder, who won many types of recognition as an agricultural teacher, plans to enter the insurance business. He will be affiliated with the Fidelity Life Insurance Co. of Philadelphia and will serve a territory including Adams and parts of Franklin and Cumberland Counties. Mr. Stock said.

During his years as a teacher, Mr. Snyder has been recognized in a number of ways by the state Future Farmers of America and by Pennsylvania State College for his work. His department at Biglerville was one of the first to which agricultural education students at State College were sent for practice teaching prior to graduation, and has continued to be a foremost unit for the teaching training given students at State College planning to take up agricultural teaching. Many of his students have been awarded Keystone Farmer degrees by the state FFA, and one of his students, Michael Wertz, was chosen to star in a national FFA motion picture made here last summer.

May Quiz Acheson On U.S. Interference In Red Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Justice Department official testified today that a federal grand jury report on its search for Communists in the United Nations was held up last fall partly because of fear "it would be used as a political football."

The testimony, to a House sub-committee investigating the department, came from Roy M. Cohn, special assistant to Atty. Gen. McGranery.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee today pushed its search for government interference with a Red-hunting grand jury in New York amid indications it might question Secretary of State Acheson.

The secretary's name figured yesterday as members of the jury testified that efforts were made to block their recommendation for a continuation of the hunt for Communists on the United Nations staff.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) told reporters Acheson may be summoned tomorrow. The State Department has categorically denied attempting to interfere with the grand jury.

Call Justice Officials
Meanwhile, four Justice Department officials — Roy Cohn, Myles Lane, Charles Murray and William Foley — were called to give their

MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE ON CONSERVATION WORK IN ADAMS

A tremendous amount of soil conservation work has been completed in Adams County in recent years, but an even larger amount remains to be done according to the survey of county needs completed by various agricultural-connected organizations at the request of the Production and Marketing Administration.

The report shows that 85,000 Adams County cropland acres are receiving lime, but adds that 90,662 additional acres need such treatment. Of the 175,662 acres of cropland in the county, 50,000 are receiving sufficient fertilizer while 125,662 need increased fertilizer application. Of the 1,800 acres of perennial hay needing lime, 1,000 acres are now receiving the mineral, and 800 more need it.

According to the report 10,000 acres of pasture are receiving lime and an additional 10,871 acres need it; 5,000 acres of pasture are Catholic priests from Woodstock, Md., were in charge of services at St. Ignatius church during the first month of Fr. Yeager's absence. November 1 the Rev. Fr. Cosmos Boyle was sent to the church from Staten Island and has been at the rectory since that date.

COUNTYMAN HURT IN YORK CRASH

A 29-year-old New Oxford R. 2 man was injured Monday about 4 p.m. when the auto in which he was riding crashed on the Lincoln highway, five miles west of York.

George Brady was admitted to West Side Osteopathic Hospital suffering several broken ribs, arm bruises and a possible back injury. His condition Monday night was listed as satisfactory.

State Policeman James E. Eberhart said Brady was a passenger in the auto operated by Paul C. Fritz, New Oxford, which crashed into the rear of the tractor-trailer driven by Ernest M. Hunter, Freeland R. 1, Md. Fritz told police he was attempting to pass the tractor-trailer when the operator suddenly started to make a left turn from the highway. Fritz and Hunter escaped injury.

version of the case.

The committee, which has been investigating the Justice Department for almost a year, yesterday heard from five jurors: Joseph P. Kelly, Joseph A. Cahill, Charles J. Harsany, Corinne L. Geist and Max M. Zimmerman.

They told about calling approximately 100 U. S. citizens employed by the U. N. and questioning them about their loyalty or Communist affiliations.

About half of the witnesses refused to answer their questions. The jurors reported, claiming the guarantee of the Fifth Amendment which says no one has to testify against himself in a criminal case.

Jurors 'Indignant'
The jury failed to indict anyone, the committee was told, but the jurors became "indignant" and, they testified, voted unanimously to report the conditions they found "so the U. S. public would be startled out of its lethargy."

The presentment filed by the jury said "an overwhelmingly large group of disloyal U. S. citizens" had infiltrated the U. N. staff. Since then, 18 have been fired as security risks.

Kelly, the jury foreman, said that Cohn, a special assistant U. S. attorney, and Lane, the regular U. S. attorney, co-operated with the jury's probe. But on Dec. 2,

PLAN BUS TRIP TO CAPITAL FOR INAUGURATION

The "On-to-Washington" committee, formed recently to provide an opportunity for countians to attend the inauguration of President Eisenhower January 20, today asked all persons wishing to travel on specially chartered buses to notify John H. Bashore, county Republican chairman and chairman of the "On-to-Washington" group.

Cost of the round-trip bus ticket will be $4. Chairman Bashore announced. Present plans call for the buses to leave early on the morning of January 20.

The buses will return following the inaugural parade. A stop may be made outside Washington for supper. Because Washington restaurants will be crowded the committee is considering the supper stop enroute to Gettysburg rather than in Washington.

Persons wishing to make the trip by bus are asked to notify Chairman Bashore at his office on Baltimore St. no later than January 10.

If sufficient interest is shown, the buses may leave from various communities of the county.

Eddie Fox Goes Back To Hospital For More Surgery

Edward Charles Fox, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Fox, Orrtanna R. 1, returned Monday to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, for another long period of operations and treatment to restore his flame-seared flesh, burned July 25, 1950, when a youngster hurled kerosene on a small camp fire made by a number of children and turned Edward and his brother, Frederick Burnell Fox, 10, into human torches.

Eddie, then 14, lived into a nearby creek near Cashtown and thus saved his life. He suffered first, second and third degree burns and for a time his life hung in the balance in the local hospital. His ten-year-old brother, Freddie, died the day after he suffered the burns.

Later Eddie was transferred to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital for the long and arduous skin grafting treatments that were needed to return him to the cheerful, handsome lad that he had been. After nearly two years and many operations, he is still confined to bed. He was allowed to come home for Christmas, however, and the Warner Hospital ambulance brought him from Philadelphia to his home on Orrtanna R. 1 on Wednesday.

On Christmas Day he was placed in a wheel chair and taken to see the tree and receive his presents. His mother said he received "many very nice presents on the occasion." Monday he was "returned to the Philadelphia hospital by the local ambulance.

During his stay here his two married sisters and married brother and their families were home to visit with him, as were a 19-year-old brother and a four-year-old sister who reside with their parents.

The one-year parole is contingent on Johnson's making restitution to Hull. Originally, he was to serve one to 11 months and 20 days in jail.

NEW BOROUGH MAPS SOUGHT

Eugene S. Sickles, Baltimore St., who has been assigned to make the borough maps for the county's new assessment set-up, would like to secure some basic maps of the boroughs—but not quite so "basic" as the ones sent out by the state Highway Department.

The state maps are too old and incomplete. They are dated prior to 1900.

So far Sickles has been using aerial photographs for the basic outline. He then visits towns where, with the assistance of the fire chiefs, he has been comparing the outlines with the sketches from the aerial pictures, and putting in the modern names of the streets.

Anyone having a map of any borough made within recent years could assist the mapping project greatly by notifying Chief Assessor Weaver at the Court House, Sickles said Monday.

The assessment maps are made on a scale of one inch to 100 feet to identify the various lots in the towns. In addition to the 11 boroughs, maps are also being drawn by Sickles of Midway, Orrtanna, Cashtown, etc., where larger scale maps are needed in order to mark in all lots.

The map for Gettysburg took 16 sections, New Oxford six, Biglerville six, and Littlestown 11. Towns the size of Bendersville are divided into four sections.

3,500,000 Men Involved In U. S. Strikes During 1952

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The year now closing brought more strikes and more idleness from work stoppages than any period since the industrial convulsions of 1946, the Labor Department reported today.

It said 4,950 stoppages began in 1952. This was close to the record of 4,985 set in 1946 when labor went after its "first round" of post-war wage boosts.

The 1946 strike wave had much to do with enactment of the Taft-Hartley Industrial Relations Act in the following year. Stoppages in 1952 exceeded—in number of shutdowns, workers involved, and days of production lost—any previous year under the Taft-Hartley law.

Thirty-four major stoppages, involving more than 10,000 workers each, were recorded in the survey made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). The biggest was the two-month strike of the CIO United Steelworkers.

Strikes of all sizes outnumbered the 1951 total by about 5 per cent, but man-days of idleness more than doubled—increasing from 22,900,000 in 1951 to 55 million this year. (A man-day is the time of one man for one day.)

Some 3 1/2 million workers were involved in this year's stoppages, as against 2,200,000 last year.

Rotarians See Progress And Prosperity Ahead; Lower Gas Rates, New Garbage Disposal

Dr. Fortenbaugh Is Convention Speaker

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, professor of history at Gettysburg College, is one of the speakers at the convention of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history society, being held at the University of Puerto Rico in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He had as his topic "The Religious Establishments in the English Colonies in North America." He left here Christmas Day for Puerto Rico to attend the convention and will return Friday.

60 EDUCATORS FROM COUNTY AT PSEA MEET

Approximately 60 Adams County teachers and school administrators today are attending the annual sessions of the Pennsylvania State Education Association at Harrisburg. Sessions of the convention got underway Monday afternoon and will conclude Wednesday noon.

Most prominent among Adams Countians at today's session is Mrs. Mary Diehl, home economist at Biglerville High School, who is presiding as president at the annual sessions of the home economics teachers held as part of the convention.

The teachers from throughout the state today were balloting for the presidency of the PSEA. Candidates were nominated at Monday evening's session. The two are Kermit M. Stover, supervising principal of the Bolling Springs Schools, and Thomas Carson, North Hills, supervising principal of the North Allegheny County School District.

Want Extra $200
Today the teachers and administrators approved a legislative program submitted by a committee Monday. The suggested legislation, to be proposed to the state legislature in January, calls for a $400 salary boost for the teachers this year. Of that amount $200 is the regular mandated increase, which the teachers will receive under previous laws. The other $200 is a proposed "cost-of-living" increase which the teachers will propose to the state legislature.

To provide funds for the pay increase the organized teachers may back a broad base tax in the 1953 legislature as they supported the ill-fated one-half of one per cent state income levy two years ago.

In addition to the "double increment" next year, the teachers seek continuation of the present additional subsidy for consolidation merger of school districts; increased retirement allowances; consideration of some form of survivor benefits; contributions to retirement by both the individual and school district

The Rev. Harold L. Myers, pastor of the local Foursquare Gospel Church, conducted the services. Arrangements were from the Wetzel Funeral Home, Hanover. The Waganans have one child.

More Go To College

"In general enrollments are high because it has become customary for more children to receive a college education, especially girls. There was a time when many of the parents held there was no reason for girls to attend college. That attitude however has changed.

"Until a few years ago 56 percent of the students went to private colleges and 44 per cent to public supported universities. Now 52 per cent go to the public supported colleges, and that trend will, I think, continue."

He concluded by observing: "I hope for the next year and the future that we will get some government that understands that the power to tax was given governments to carry on the legitimate work of government and not to be considered as a means of changing the social structure."

Progress In Medicine

Dr. Roy W. Gifford, associate surgeon at the Warner Hospital, forecast "acceleration of research in medicine during 1953 and correspondingly an acceleration of findings of new materials for use in medicine. The antibiotics are brand new and we have only scratched the surface so far. There will in all likelihood be a great number of findings in that field during the coming year.

"There will probably be an increase in the number of people who live to an older age. I don't think the Deity in His wisdom planned for people to live indefinitely but certainly we can advance the pres-

AVOIDS COURT CONTEMPT RULE AT LAST MINUTE

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph S. Banfield, 41, of Boston appeared today to have purged himself of a contempt of court charge by returning before the Brink's grand jury just as his case of being a reluctant witness was to have been taken up by Federal Judge William T. McCarthy.

Banfield apparently decided to shed his previous claim that any testimony he offers might be self-incriminating and appeared before the grand jury for more than an hour yesterday.

Paul Hooley, 39, also of Boston chose to face a court sentence rather than change his mind and testify before the jury investigating the Brink's $1,219,000 robbery of Jan. 17, 1950.

Judge McCarthy sentenced Hooley to nine months on a contempt of court charge growing out of his refusal to answer any questions, other than his name and address, before the grand jury. Hooley appeared.

Woman Given Year
Hooley's wife, Mary, 37, was given a year on a contempt charge earlier in the inquiry, also for refusing to testify before the Brink's grand jury. She, too, appeared and is free on bail.

The Hooleys are the parents of three small children.

Judge McCarthy held his court in session past the normal supper hour in handling the contempt of court charge against Edward A. Bennett, 33, of Boston, but he finally put off that case until today.

The contempt of court cases of six other reluctant Brink's witnesses also are still pending.

Included in those is the case against Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, 44, of Boston, listed by the FBI as a possible participant in the Nation's biggest cash robbery.

O'Keefe's brother, Donald, 39, and John H. Carlson, 34, both of Boston, also are under sentences on contempt of court charges. Donald was given nine months and Carlson 18 months. Both appeared.

Call Five Witnesses
Banfield was one of five witnesses to appear before the grand jury yesterday as it entered its sixth week of inquiry into the fabulous robbery.

One of the other four witnesses was identified by newsmen as a bail bondsman who posted cash bail for some of the balky witnesses cited for contempt in the Brink's case.

Meanwhile, it was reported unofficially that new information which may be important to the grand jury investigation has been furnished by former Atty. Gen. Charles J. Margiotti of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The nature of the alleged information could not be learned but it was unofficially speculated that it concerns "Specs" O'Keefe and Stanley Gusciora, a Stoughton, Mass., gunman.

O'Keefe and Gusciora are doing time in Pennsylvania for having five pistols and 150 pounds of ammunition in their car while driving through that state some months after the Brink's robbery.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Abraham H. Lipez, Lock Haven, today was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas, 25th judicial district, by Gov. John S. Fine.

Lipez, 49, succeeds Judge Henry Hippie, who died last September. The district is made up of Clinton County.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A retired railroad worker and his daughter were found shot to death today in their suburban Munhall home.

County Detective Sgt. George Kercher called the shooting murder and suicide. He said a 12-gauge shotgun was found beside the father's body. Killed were John Harrison, 67, and Rebecca Harrison, 35, an employee of Carnegie Illinois Steel Co.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Serge M. Rubinstein, Russian-born financier and convicted draft-dodger, today asked the U. S. District Court to prevent his deportation.

His attorney filed a suit seeking an order barring Atty. Gen. McGranery from taking Rubinstein in custody or deporting him.

McGranery yesterday ordered Rubinstein taken into custody by 4 p.m. today for deportation.

Rubinstein, 44, has been fighting deportation for nearly 10 years.

The wealthy New Yorker was successful in contesting a 1943 deportation order based on charges he entered the United States in 1938 on a Portuguese passport obtained through fraud.

McGranery's new deportation order is based on Rubinstein's 1947 conviction of World War II draft dodging. Rubinstein served two and one-half years in prison.

DENIES ATTACK ON NEWSPAPER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) has sworn he did not try to destroy the business of the Las Vegas (Nev) Sun, which criticized him editorially.

"I did not—in no way whatever," McCarran testified during six hours of questioning yesterday as to whether he had entered into any plot to injure or destroy the Sun by curtailing its advertising.

"I didn't conspire with anyone and I didn't suggest to anybody to do anything about advertising," McCarran said.

Hank M. Greenspun, publisher of the Sun, has filed a million dollar suit against the senator and about 40 other persons, most of them connected with Las Vegas hotels and gambling clubs.

McCarran has filed a motion asking U. S. District Judge Roger T. Foley of Nevada for a judgment in his favor. The judge withheld a ruling until after Greenspun's attorneys had an opportunity to question McCarran. His testimony now will become a part of the court record in the case.

One of Greenspun's allegations is that McCarran took the lead in forming a conspiracy to cause hotels and gambling clubs to withdraw their advertising from the Sun.

McCarran said he was not involved in the conspiracy.

At the first general session of the convention Monday night, Mrs. Sarah C. Caldwell, Akron, O., president of the National Education Association, urged the Pennsylvania teachers not to allow "an iron curtain" to descend around their classrooms and schools.

"Don't be frightened by the threats of those who would seek to lower this iron curtain," she said. "Teachers of the free world must continue to speak for themselves."

Mrs. Caldwell told the teachers they must hold "erect spiritual, moral and intellectual bulwarks against ideologies that are designed to erode and eventually destroy the very foundations of free government and democracy."

"At the present moment it is most urgent that the American people understand that money spent for improving public education is money spent in building up our national strength," she added.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, will address the general session of the convention in the Forum of the State Education Building tonight.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO
Old Time Christmas: Christmas was a quiet day in Gettysburg. Most of our people spent the day enjoying home comforts. A few of our people left town and enjoyed turkey with friends.

In the afternoon a little stir was created by the G. A. Band serenading the different hotels of the town. There were no free drinks given at the hotels, as has usually been the case, and for this our landlords are to be congratulated. Business was so dull that one of the leading bars closed early in the evening.

The services in the churches were well attended.

Marriages. Arnold-Snyder, Dec. 25th at Aspers, by Rev. D. Barnhart, Harry Arnold, of Carlisle, to Miss Mary A. Snyder, of Bendersville.

Blocher-Roth. Dec. 24th, at Bendersville, by Rev. S. A. Diehl, Edward T. C. Blocher of Bendersville, to Miss Lida M. Roth, of Biglerville.

Bowers-Trostle. Dec. 25th, at Arendtsville, by Rev. D. T. Koser, Harry P. Bowers, of Lewistown, Md., to Miss Ellen E. Trostle, of Mummaburg.

Cashman-Mummert. Dec. 23, at New Chester, by Rev. H. W. Bender, David M. Cashman, of Reading township, to Miss Hannah E. Mummert, of Tyrone township.

Fitz-Carson. Dec. 25th, at Fountain Dale, by Rev. F. C. Buyers, Geo. M. Fitz of Charlmars, to Miss Emma M. Carson, of Hamilton township.

Deardorff-Bucher. Dec. 25th, at the bride's home, by Rev. D. T. Koser, Quinton M. Deardorff to Miss Martha B. Bucher, both of Franklin township.

Watson-Benchoff. Dec. 24th, at Monterey, by Rev. J. J. Burkhardt, W. F. Watson, of Fairfield, to Miss Lillie Benchoff, of Fountain Dale.

Yeagy-Bowers. Dec. 25th, at Idaville, by Rev. Oscar H. Gruver, Charles H. Yeagy to Miss Zora A. Bowers, both of Huntington township.

Masons Banquet. Good Samaritan Lodge No. 339, P. and A.M.; on Saturday evening celebrated St. John's Day in the usual manner with a banquet at the Hotel Gettysburg. The banquet was served promptly at 8 o'clock to 75 members and friends.

With the cigars and coffee the table was formally turned over to Bros. Duncan, P. M., who acted as toastmaster, when the following brethren responded to toasts: Geo. M. Walter, J. W. C. O'Neal, Calvin Hamilton, Luther Y. Diller, L. S. Pice and W. C. Sheely.

Christmas In The Churches: Christ Lutheran: The Christmas services of Christ Church Sunday School were held Wednesday evening in the lecture room of the church. While all the parts were well rendered, the duet by Misses Ada and Flo Blocher, the solo by Miss Willanna Miller and the recitation by Miss Nellie Ramer were especially praiseworthy. Rev. M. Coover made a brief address.

Presbyterian: A large audience was present Wednesday evening to enjoy a very appropriate program. Mr. Charles McCurdy of Bellefonte, made a few remarks. Mr. McCurdy has not missed Christmas since the organization of the school.

Every scholar came to the entertainment laden with something to contribute to the needs of the poor people of the town.

Trinity Reformed. At the Reformed church a service, conducted by Rev. Dr. T. J. Barkley, was held at 6 o'clock in the morning. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Sunday School held their exercises. Miss Louise Stahle sang a solo. There were recitations by members of the Infant Department: Charles S. Butt, John Butt, Clyde Bream, John Rupp, Curtis Myers, Perry and

Today's Talk

ALWAYS WITH COURAGE

I wonder how far any one of us would get if we did not have courage? Without question, it is one of the most important of all essentials as equipment in life. All through recorded history we constantly come across the fact that courage led the way.

Our pioneers and forefathers had this courage to a marked degree. We of this later generation can hardly conceive or appreciate the rare courage that took those brave people to the West, where they cleared the land, lived in mud huts, and went through privations that seared their very souls.

Emerson once said: "We must think with courage." Well, that is what the people did who worked their way in this Western world, laying the foundations for a heritage that is ours today — with a challenge to us to carry on with even greater courage. These more complex times call for the rarest sort of courage. The problems of the world have multiplied, clouding our conception of their significance.

One of the most charming of books about a family in the early days of Quebec is that one by Louis Hemon — "Marie Chapdelaine." It is difficult to secure in the United States, but many editions have been published in Canada. It first came out in an English translation in 1821. I am obliged to my friend Herbert West of Dartmouth College for introducing the book to me. It is an absorbing story of love, hardship and of the pioneer spirit that knows no defeat.

To me, one of the most inspiring of lives is that of Helen Keller, who was stricken deaf, dumb and blind in babyhood. Her wonderful teachers and her rare courage put her through Radcliffe College with high honors, and today, at the age of past seventy, her inspiring work in the world stands out as one of the most remarkable and influential of any woman of her time.

True it is that courage is a "red badge," but it is not worn upon outer garments, but upon the wall of the heart! Said William James: "Need and struggle are what excite and inspire us." Courage is the thing that carries us on!

Just Folks

A YEAR
We know how long a year will last.
We know the number of its days.
And like all others that have passed
Not one an extra minute stays.

Like every year that's gone before,
We know precisely at the start
When ended are its seasons four
The day and hour it will depart.

With all its final page must hold,
With naught to add and naught
And that last midnight bell is tolled
A young, new year will take its place.

Since men shape years by all they do,
No better will the new year be,
When it has run its twelve months through,
Than from the start to close are we.

BLACK HOMBURG IS DIPLOMATS' FRATERNITY PIN

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The black homburg is like a fraternity pin. Diplomats wear it like a sign which says "I am a diplomat."

The hat with the uprolled edge and the deep crown is in such general use among diplomats that it is practically a tribal headgear.

But at least diplomats have been considered a gentlemanly group whose language, while not always clear, has been extremely restrained even when threatening the most frightening reprisals.

Diplomatic Dead-Enders
Then the Russians got in on the act and, as usual, caused considerable confusion.

They have come to be regarded in world capitals as the bully boys of diplomacy, the dead end kids of statecraft.

Since they seem to have worked hard at perpetuating this rough-neck image of themselves, it comes as a shock to see their main man, Stalin, switch to a method which seems almost kittenish. It was just a little too cute.

Normal Channels Open

He is either sick of the Korean War and wishes he hadn't let it start, or he isn't. He either wants to come to an understanding with the West, or he doesn't.

In any event, he could have done business, if he wanted to, through normal channels.

Instead, when he wanted to say he'd look favorably upon peace talks with President-elect Eisenhower, he did it by responding to some questions on his attitude toward world peace submitted by the New York Times.

This was such a pussyfooting way to operate, it's no wonder John Foster Dulles, who will be Eisenhower's secretary of state, gave him the answer he did.

Although Stalin is suspected of replying to the questions just to get publicity that he can use for propaganda, Dulles told him if he really wants to do business, to do it through the regular diplomatic channels.

This batted the ball back to Stalin. In the end, all that may be remembered of this episode is that, for a moment anyway, Stalin switched from the usual Communist tactics of tearing the house down to a kitten caper.

KILL GLADIOLUS THIRPS NOW

Until it was learned a few years ago that the destructive gladiolus thrip did not survive over winter in gladiolus litter left in the lawn or garden but lived solely in the stored corms, minor emphasis was placed on fumigation of corms as an effective means of extermination.

But now growers are beginning to realize that fumigation of corms not only offers a method of control but, if all growers would employ this treatment, final solution of the vexing thrip problem would be attained.

Thrips are tiny sap-sucking insects which are seldom seen by growers because they are so small and because they feed out of sight most of the time beneath the leaf sheaths. Only when infested plants are carefully examined are the hungry pests revealed. Herein is the reason why many beginners report that their gladiolus plants are suffering from what they call a "blight," when in fact the silvery, brownish foliage indicates that thrips are killing the leaves.

A badly infested plant looks like its foliage had been seared by a flame.

Gladiolus corms should be thoroughly dried after they are dug, preferably in an open shed or airy room. After such maturing for three or four weeks they should be cleaned by removal of the old corms and all dry hulls. Then but preferably in early winter they should be fumigated to kill the inhabiting thrips. Of course, fumigation may be done in late winter but many growers believe mid-December treatment is more beneficial.

The treatment is simple. If corms are stored in several small lots, obtain a small paper bag for each lot or, in other words, a paper bag for each lot, large or small. Buy ordinary naphthalene flakes at the rate of one pound (one quart) for every 2,000 corms.

Place the corms in paper bags and apply naphthalene flakes at the rate of one ounce (4 1/2 level tablespoons) to every 100 corms. Fold the open end of the bag over several times to hold the fumes intact. Remove corms in four to six weeks and return them to their regular storage trays. Usually one such fumigation is sufficient to kill all thrips, but if later inspections reveal survivors, repeat the treatment before late winter.

Of course, if thrip-free corms are planted and no adult thrips enter from neighboring gardens, gladiolus plants will remain safe all summer. But because the insects are so small and hardy at least a few survivors usually sneak in and start a brood or two. Then at the first evidences of "silvery" foliage combat spraying should start promptly. The most effective spray used to date is composed of 6 1/2 level teaspoons of tartar emetic in three gallons of water in which one-half cupful of brown sugar has been dissolved. Applied as a fine mist spray so that it runs down into the sheaths, this remedy will usually curb outbreaks. It should be repeated as long as evidences of infestation continue.

Growers who suspect that stored corms may contain thrips at planting time should disinfect corms in the well known mercuric chloride solution. Because this is a deadly poison it should be employed only and flue connections are not capable of carrying away all the fumes.

Where several other plants are temperamental about high temperatures and dry air, indoor hydrangeas are quite adaptable. Ordinary living room conditions apparently satisfy them. Most failures occur where temperatures at or above 74 degrees are maintained. Most successes are reported in the 70-to-72 degree level.

By far the most common mistake made with indoor hydrangeas (not considering the already-discussed efforts to make outdoor plants of them) is in the matter of an annual rest. Like all other herbaceous plants, they demand a rest. One of the better ways to provide this is to wait until the blooms disappear and the leaves turn yellow. Then the plant (undisturbed in the pot) should be placed in a cool, medium moist cellar, such as is suitable for storing root vegetables. Laid on its side, it will enjoy the rest it requires.

In late spring, preferably after frost dangers are past in May, the pot should be brought out and the top pruned back severely. The roots should be repotted in a new soil mixture and the pot plunged to its brim in a shady shrub border and watered over summer just enough to prevent injury from dryness. The prunings may be used to grow many additional plants.

The old plant should be brought indoors to a sunny room before early fall nights grow cool and watered to stimulate growth.

Whenever hydrangeas are in foliage they should be watched closely for infestations by mealybugs, aphids and minor sucking pests. A spraying with Black Leaf 40 in soapy water will solve the problem if all the insects are liberally coated.

RETIREMENT EDITOR DIES
MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—James W. P. Hart, 76, former news editor of the Greenville Record-Argus, died yesterday at his home in nearby Hartstown.

Hart retired from the Record-Argus in 1946 after about 20 years of service.

Indoor hydrangeas require plenty of light. And while their foliage may be injured by too much sun when the midday rays are hot, yet they demand a well lighted room with an east or south window exposure. Occasionally growers succeed with this plant in west windows.

Fumes from gas stoves are usually fatal. This is particularly true where gas is used for cooking

Seeks New Formula For Milk Pricing

Francis Worley, this county's state assemblyman-elect, said Monday he is planning to introduce legislation in the 1953 General Assembly "set up a new and more equitable formula" for milk pricing in the state.

"Both consumers and farmers in my district have been complaining about the price of milk, but I haven't had any complaints from the milk dealers," Worley said.

The proposed formula, if possible, would give farmers a bigger share of the milk dollar at one end and lower the price for consumers at the other, the Adams County service. He formerly worked for the Washington Observer and the Canonsburg Notes.

legislator said.

Worley said studies are now being made for him, using the formulas of the dairy department at Pennsylvania State College, which he said contrasts sharply with that of the present milk control law, and of New York and New Jersey in milk pricing.

SPECIALISTS PREDICT THESE EVENTS FOR 1953

AP Newsfeatures

THE coming year, like the next several, promises to accentuate rather than relieve world problems which have been growing ever since the war. It does not bring the prospect of immediate war, barring Russian underestimation of Allied reaction to some action she may be planning. But as the time approaches when Allied experts believe Russia will reach her peak of preparedness—1954-55—complications spread out in ever-widening whorls.

In the military field, the Korean war showed small prospect of ending. What to do about it—let the stalemate continue, try to end it with an offensive in Korea, apply pressure directly to China through blockade, bombing or both—was not expected to be decided until the year is well under way. Smaller wars in Indo-China and Malaya were expected to drag on, though there was a possibility the British might finally suppress the latter. In Africa and the Middle East, outbreaks closely akin to war could occur at any time.

In the field of the cold war, and the military preparedness undertaken by the Allies to prevent it from becoming hot, economic troubles will increase. A world economic conference probably will be held, and some palliatives might be found.

But no solution appeared for two great problems affecting world economy. One is the obstruction of trade between the free world and the Russian sphere, without which no real world balance can be attained. The other is the fact that Great Britain is going through an economic menopause.

The United States, with Britain trailing unhappily along, will move more and more toward support of nationalist movements in politically immature areas.

The U.S. will make another effort to settle the Iranian-British dispute, but any agreement will be bought, without producing real amity. Similar problems are likely to arise throughout the Middle East oil area, especially in Iraq.

The United Nations will neither come apart—barring war—nor become effective. It will remain an important forum, and could serve as standby machinery for administering world cooperation if peace is ever attained. The idea of a federated Europe will grow, aided by Franco-German agreement on Germany's place in European defense, and on the future of the Saar.

Rising signs of Peronist ideas will be seen in other Latin American countries, with parallel activity by the communists. This will produce worse relations with the U.S., in some cases, but the facade probably will continue polite.

... J. M. Roberts Jr.

WHAT'S in store for the Communist satellite countries of Europe in 1953? More of the same.

For the workers—The Stakhanovite (speedup) movement imported from Moscow will be stepped up at the insistence of the Soviet Union, to squeeze out every possible ounce of effort for production in a "mobilization for defense."

For the farmers—The drive toward collectivization on the Soviet scale will be intensified with ever-increasing ruthlessness. The aim of this drive will be to eliminate all vestiges of private agricultural production.

For the consumers—Continuing shortages of consumer goods, excused by playing up the threat of war and the need to produce for defense of the homeland and the Soviet Union.

For the governments—More sovietization. The next year should see most of the satellites brought to a condition where they could be absorbed at will by Moscow as new republics of the USSR.

For the Communists—More purges. The purification of the satellite parties is far from complete.

... William L. Ryan

A NEW political party is taking over the federal government for the first time in 20 years and a lot of big questions loom on the horizon. Leaders see the situation shaping up something like this:

President-elect Eisenhower will get cooperation generally from both parties in the first few months at least. Unless Eisenhower stubs his toe, a minimum of criticism is promised by the Democratic opposition while the new leader translates his pledges into action.

Southern Democrats, on whom Republicans will depend for support in many instances because of slim GOP margins of control, can be expected to end the honeymoon immediately the GOP tries to fulfill its promises on civil rights.

Republicans will try hard to trim the last Truman budget of around $60 billion dollars. The retiring President says they will have a tough time.

... Harold Oliver

MOST businessmen are viewing 1953 with confidence—and keeping a check-rein on their hopes. Playing it cagey, they are planning for a year with little change in the industrial production pace, now at a peacetime peak, and little change in prices.

The confidence springs from: 1. the belief that the new administration will be friendlier to business; 2. the belief that the new President is unlikely to slow down the pace of rearmament; and 3. the hope that the public, supposedly with cash in the bank, will spend more next year.

The caution springs from: 1. the chance that defense spending may creep in the latter part of 1953; 2. the fear that industrial capacity to produce has expanded beyond the needs of civilian demands alone; and 3. the firm belief that "everything that goes up must come down sometime."

WHAT DOES FATE HOLD IN STORE IN THE YEAR AHEAD?

Retail merchants count on the public spending more freely in the coming spring than in the last. Already the consumer is saving less, and buying more. With employment high, more customers are buying on time.

... Sam Dawson

COUNTING upon an early end of the Controlled Materials Program that limits its car and truck output, the auto industry is raising its production and sales sights for 1953.

If controls are removed early, industry heads have intimated, the industry will build—and sell—at least five million passenger cars in 1953. Moreover, some say, that figure may be taken as the annual normal output requirements for many years to come. Approximately 4,350,000 cars were built in 1952.

The industry has geared itself for sharp competition with new models with more eye-appeal than in its more than half-century of vehicle production. Smoother lines mark all the new models, with lowered silhouettes imparting an appearance of even greater length, although generally there has been no over-all increase in bumper-to-bumper measurement.

... David J. Wilkie

DRUGS to control or perhaps cure some types of cancer are one bet for scientific discoveries in 1953. A number of new chemicals are under test. One or more may fulfill research hopes.

And you may expect:

By year's end, an atomic submarine will be close to reality. New metals will be found, able to withstand temperatures of jet planes and rockets for superior performance. Rockets may top the 250-mile present record.

Work on the H-bomb will carry forward. Radioactive atoms will be used to sterilize drugs, maybe foods. Success will likely come in "breeder" atomic piles, making more atomic fuel as they burn atomic fuel for peaceful heat and power.

A heart-lung machine will pass human tests, by-passing the entire human heart and lungs to permit new kinds of surgery, or revive stopped hearts.

The biggest enemy, heart and blood vessel diseases, will begin to yield some, through better understanding and control of the chemistry of hardening of arteries, coronary attacks, and high blood pressure.

... Alton L. Blakeslee

FOR the first time in 20 years the two big labor organizations—AFL and CIO—stepped across the threshold into a new year without strong White House ties which have marked the phenomenal growth of unionism since 1933.

There was strong evidence that President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, at least at the start, will respect the opinions and listen to the argument of organized labor leaders. At the head of the Labor Department, and sitting in the new cabinet, will be Martin P. Durkin, a leader in the AFL for many years, a Democrat who hopes to recast the Taft-Hartley Act, the nation's basic labor law.

Both the AFL and CIO say they want to get together again on the elusive question of labor unity. The White House and Congress are now considered in unfriendlier hands than at any time in the past 20 years, a condition which leads some observers to feel that the AFL and CIO would want to close ranks and present a solid front. Even so, it is strictly speculative whether organic unity will come in the next 12 months.

ELEVEN NAMES ARE MENTIONED FOR GOVERNOR

By L. U. LESLIE
HARRISBURG (AP)—Drum beating for governor in 1954 has already started in Pennsylvania, even before the dust settles on the 1952 presidential campaign.

On both Republican and Democratic sides, party leaders and voters are being told who would make a good candidate to succeed GOP Gov. John S. Fine.

M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, started the ball rolling earlier this month by declaring U. S. Sen. James H. Duff was the state's greatest governor and voicing a hope that he "would come back as governor."

Then, over the week end, Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Philadelphia came out for Dist. Atty. Richardson Dilworth of that city for governor on the Democratic ticket.

Neither Duff nor Dilworth has commented on the situation.

Dilworth lost out to Fine for governor in 1950, polling 1,710,355 votes to Fine's 1,796,119.

Clark For Dilworth
Ruling himself out of the gubernatorial situation, Clark said he intended "to use whatever small influence I may have within the party to help get him (Dilworth) nominated and elected."

But there are a host of other politically prominent figures in speculation as possible candidates for Pennsylvania's next governor. They include:

Republican—Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, formerly commanding general of the 28th Infantry Division in Germany and now on Army duty in Rome; Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside, who resigned from the Dauphin County Court to enter Fine's cabinet; Sen. John M. Walker, who led the Senate fight in 1951 against the governor's income tax bill; State Treasurer Charles R. Barber, who led the state ticket in November when he was elected

Taft-Hartley Act Is Valid

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Federal Judge John Knight Monday declared constitutional the injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

His decision came as he granted the government an 80-day injunction under the act, restraining workers from continuing a strike at the Dunkirk plant of the American Locomotive Co.

The action, contested by the CIO United Steelworkers Union, was the first direct court test of the Taft-Hartley Act's constitutionality.

The government had sought an injunction to keep the supply of nickel-plated pipe, vital to atomic energy work, flowing from the Dunkirk plant.

Knight ordered the workers to stay on their jobs until March 2.

Knight said the strike could not continue because it affected the health and security of the nation.

Teachers To Ask $200 Wage Boost

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's organized school teachers Monday opened a drive for a $200 a year cost of living salary increase. The Pennsylvania State Education Association, claiming a membership of most of the 62,000 teachers in the state, is expected to go along with such a demand before its three-day convention closes here Wednesday.

The PSEA's legislative committee recommended the $200 a year boost, in addition to an automatic step-up for the same figure authorized by the 1951 Legislature, as a means of equalizing the salaries of Pennsylvania teachers with those in surrounding states.

SIX PARDONS ARE SIGNED BY FINE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine, acting on recommendation of the State Pardon Board, Monday signed six pardons and 13 commutations of sentence for persons whose cases were heard at the December session of the board.

The pardons included: Joseph Rizzo, Allegheny, lottery; Albert James Fallat, Allegheny, burglary; Peter Chiodo, Cambria, violation of election laws and conspiracy.

The commutations, making those named eligible for parole included: John W. Kelson, Delaware and Philadelphia, burglary; Robert Vernon Baker, Montgomery, robbery; Raymond Roger Moore, Allegheny, robbery; Joseph Troha, Allegheny, burglary; Henry Emmitt Hileman, Allegheny, statutory rape; Roland Baxter, Centre, breaking and escaping penitentiary; William B. Sherman, Clarion and Venango, burglary and larceny.

Defendant Cannot Summon FBI Men

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe—described by the FBI as the prime suspect in the fabulous $1,219,000 Brink's express robbery—can't call any FBI men as defense witnesses in his contempt case, a federal judge ruled Monday. Judge William T. McCarthy, who is presiding in the U. S. Court session at which a grand jury is investigating the nearly three year old robbery, served notice on O'Keefe's attorney Monday that he will not allow any probing into the work of the FBI men. Judge McCarthy said that he will hand down his decision in the case "after all the other cases are disposed of."

Firemen Forced To Split Their Forces

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Three fire companies fighting a barn fire about six miles north of here had to divide their forces when a neighboring house, about a quarter mile away burst into flames.

William McIlvaine, owner of the dairy farm, said the barn was completely destroyed in Sunday's fire. Two cows were burned to death. He estimated damage at $50,000.

Mrs. Lardner Howell estimated damage to her home at $7,500.

WILL OPPOSE SEATING SOLON

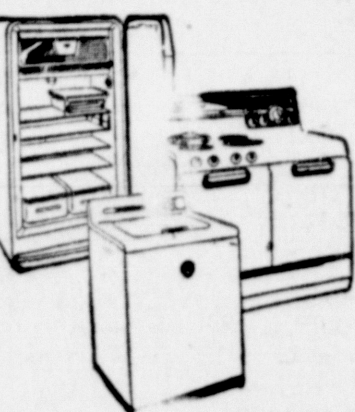

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—A fight shaped up today over the seating of Republican Louis E. Graham in the 83rd Congress.

Theodore R. Gunnett, Lawrence County Democratic chairman, said on Sunday he plans to press his opposition to Rep. Graham's reelection, adding:

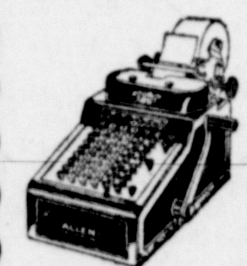

"I have received assurance from the House Administration Committee that Graham will not be seated."

Errors amounting to a gain of about 90 votes for Graham's Democratic opponent, Frank M. Clark, were found in six precinct ballot boxes, Gunnett said. He added it cost $300 to recount these precincts and that his organization didn't have enough money to make a complete tally.

Official returns from the 25th congressional district, comprising Lawrence, Butler and Beaver Counties, showed Graham got 76,134 votes—1,334 more than Clark.

COUPLE, CHILD DIE IN CRASH

RED LION, Pa. (AP)—A young couple and their 3-year-old nephew were killed and three other persons injured in a head-on auto crashup on Route 74, about three miles south of this York County community.

Paul Heidelberg, 21, and his wife, Edith, 24, and Edward Sheffer, 3, all of York, died in the accident on Sunday. Heidelberg was driving his wife, the child and the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sheffer, both 54, of York, home from Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

State police reported that the grandparents suffered arm, and collarbone fractures and broken ribs. Kenneth C. Tompkins, 20, of High Rock R. D. 1, identified by the police as the driver of the second car, suffered a fractured jaw and leg bruises.

All the injured were in "satisfactory" condition at York Hospital. Police said they believed the accident occurred when Tompkins tried to pass a car.

RESCUE BABES AS HOME BURNS

READING, Pa. (AP)—Two small children were rescued from a blazing house by two women on Sunday about 10 miles east of here.

Mrs. Virginia Connor, 21, her mother, Mrs. Vettie Caple, 42, and a boarder, Ellwood Green, were watching television in the living room of a two-story house when an oil heater burst into flames.

The women ran upstairs and picked up Mrs. Connor's daughter, Vettie Mae, five months, and Mrs. Caple's granddaughter, Diana Lockhart, 2.

As the women descended the stairs the stove exploded, showering the room with flaming oil. Neither of the women were burned as they escaped through the kitchen door.

Firemen from eight companies who fought the fire for three hours were forced back repeatedly as flames burst from the windows and front door. They finally donned gas masks and entered the house to quell the fire.

Expect Largest Draft In February

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Selective Service Headquarters today anticipated Pennsylvania's draft quota for February would be the highest since the outbreak of the Korean War.

Director Henry M. Gross said the state's quota should approximate 6,600. That would compare with previous record of 6,204 for last November.

Gross emphasized, however, that the final figure will not be fixed until after his office consults with national headquarters which has called for induction of 53,000 men in February.

There was a possibility that the high February quota may require induction of 19-year-olds and married men with children for first time in many months, Gross said. That decision, too, he said, must await consultation with Washington.

Bitter Encyclical By Pope Pius XII

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII in a bitter encyclical today sharply criticized persecution of Catholic churches of the Oriental Rite, almost all of which are behind the Iron Curtain.

The Pope's encyclical, addressed to patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and local ordinaries of Oriental churches, called for a crusade of prayer to exhort that these "grave offenses" be appeased.

"In many regions where the Oriental Rite particularly flourishes there has been unleashed a new tempest which seeks to overthrow, devastate and destroy in misery flourishing Christian communities," he declared.

The Pope's letter especially mentioned the persecution of the church in Bulgaria, where Bishop Eugene Bossikoff, bishop of Nicopolis, and three other priests recently were condemned to death.

Says Foreign Agents Penetrated Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Col. Paul W. Tibbets, pilot of the plane which dropped the first atomic bomb on Japan, said today foreign agents penetrated the secret B29 base in Utah where the first A-bomb crew was trained.

Tibbets said agents of two foreign countries were arrested within the closely guarded airbase at Wendover, Utah, at a time when only a handful of scientists and high military men knew about the bomb.

He did not name the countries nor say whether the agents had had an opportunity to learn any secrets. He said he did not know what became of the agents, that the Manhattan District took charge of them. The Manhattan District was the Army code name for the A-bomb development project.

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower hopes to round out preliminary draft of his legislative program at a conference today with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and other Senate Republican leaders.

The senators are those who will have a key role in how far the general legislative program gets in Congress. Besides Taft, slated to be Senate majority leader, those scheduled to sit in at today's conference include:

Senators Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, prospective president pro tempore of the Senate—its presiding officer in the absence of the vice president; Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Conference of all GOP Senators; and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Milton R. Young of North Dakota, members of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Eisenhower discussed on Dec. 18 with House Republican leaders the new administration's legislative program which the general will outline to Congress shortly after his inauguration Jan. 20.

Aides said much preliminary work already has been done on the program and that Eisenhower hopes the first stages can be completed at today's meeting. Additional conferences with congressional leaders are planned for study of the final draft.

Eisenhower announced yesterday that after his inauguration he will appoint Robert Cutler, president and director of the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, as an administrative assistant to the president.

Cutler, 57 and a Republican, served as an adviser to Eisenhower during the election campaign.

As an administrative assistant, he will deal especially with the National Security Council, co-ordinating its work with that of other agencies and departments.

Ready To Deport

Serge Rubinstein

NEW YORK (AP)—Draft-dodging financier Serge M. Rubinstein, former "boy wonder of Wall Street" who first was exposed to finances at the czar's court in old Russia, must surrender today for deportation from the United States.

If he fails to show up by 4 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, he stands to forfeit the $1,000 bond in which he is now free.

The deadline was set yesterday in Washington by Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery, who ordered the 44-year-old Rubinstein taken into custody on a deportation order issued last February. It is based on a 1947 conviction of draft dodging.

Rubinstein could not be located by newsmen as McGranery acted. A butler at the Russian-born financier's Fifth Avenue home here said last night he was not home, and not expected and that other members of the family were not available for comment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An informed administration source said today President Truman will call upon the new Congress to vote about 73½ billion dollars in new appropriations next year.

He predicted government expenditures of "somewhat under" 80 billion dollars — subject, of course, to changes by the incoming Eisenhower administration.

Spending in the present fiscal year, the source said, will probably fall between four and five billion dollars below the latest official estimate, due to lags in defense expenditures, but tax collections will be about what was previously estimated.

Would Mean Deficit That would mean a five to six billion dollar budget deficit at the end of next June in place of the present official estimate of $10,300,000,000.

On a cash income and outgo basis, the deficit, according to this information, from a man who asked that he not be named, would be from two to three billion dollars instead of the present estimate of nearly seven billion cash deficit.

Actual government spending always varies from the amount voted by Congress because of delivery time lags.

The present fiscal year—fiscal 1953—ends next June 30; fiscal 1954.

President-elect Eisenhower can make any changes he wishes in the budget program which the law requires Truman to lay before Congress only a fortnight before he leaves office.

Defense Spending Lower Congress can also make changes. The Truman administration source said defense spending this fiscal year will not exceed 47 to 48 billion dollars, instead of the presently estimated 51 billions, and that total government outgo will be around 75 billions, instead of 79 billions.

Says Russia Tops Our Plane Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, says it would be "catastrophic" for the U. S. to cut back now in plane production.

Russia has built five times as many planes as the U. S. during the last five years, he said yesterday in an article written for Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association.

The American buildup towards a 143-wing Air Force which started 29 months ago, he added, has reached only the halfway mark so far.

CLARK RAISES POINT NEEDS BEHIND LINES

TOKYO (AP)—Troops behind-the-lines in Korea will need two additional points for rotation home after Jan. 1.

Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters today gave lack of replacements from the U. S. as the reason.

There was no change in the rotation requirement of eight months service—36 points—for soldiers at the front. Rear area troops will need 40 instead of 38 points.

Scale Of Points
Troops at the front get four rotation points a month. Those near the front get three and soldiers far to the rear get two.

Soldiers in Japan whose families are with them get one point monthly. Others get 1½.

Clark, Far Eastern commander, and Washington have disagreed in recent months on the problem of adequate replacements. Pentagon pressure forced Clark on Oct. 22 to withdraw an order increasing the battle-line rotation requirement from 36 to 38 points.

Draft Call Upped

There was no comment on Clark's latest order from the Defense Department or the Army. Saturday the Army's February draft call was upped to 53,000 men—the highest quota since early in the Korean War.

Clark's headquarters said the new increase "is made necessary because of lack of receipt of sufficient replacements from the United States to continue rotation in January on the basis of 38 points" and still maintain the combat efficiency of the Eighth Army and other Army units throughout the command.

Depends On Replacements
It added that rotation requirements after January would depend upon replacements.

"The decision to retain the rotation criteria at 36 (points) for Zone A (front line) is in line with the previously announced policy of giving primary consideration to troops in the forward combat zone who are daily exposed to the greatest dangers and hardships," the statement added.

terday in an article written for Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association.

Drop Kaufman From Television Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright George S. Kaufman has been dropped from the CBS television program "This Is Show Business" because he remarked: "Let's make this one program on which no one sings 'Silent Night.'"

He made the remark on the Dec. 21 show.

"This was not wittingly an anti-religious remark," Kaufman said.

Texan's Plane Plunge Listed As Accidental

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — The death of Ollie William Cox, young rancher who told friends by aircraft radio he was going to plunge his plane into the ground—and then did it—has been listed officially as an accident.

A complete report on the crash and death of the wealthy 23-year-old rancher will be made later by Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Safety Investigations.

Justice of the Peace M. C. Manroe, however, yesterday returned a verdict of accidental plane crash as the cause of death.

The youth's father agreed. "The boy didn't intend to kill himself,"

Fort Stockton, Tex., rancher Ollie Cox said. "He was just kidding his friends and lost control of the plane."

Here's a tip for home decorators: Arrange your lighting so that it emphasizes the good points of your living room and plays down its bad ones.

Bacon drippings may be used when cooking an omelet or a tomato sauce.

Drop Kaufman From Television Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright George S. Kaufman has been dropped from the CBS television program "This Is Show Business" because he remarked: "Let's make this one program on which no one sings 'Silent Night.'"

He made the remark on the Dec. 21 show.

"This was not wittingly an anti-religious remark," Kaufman said.
